Living Learning Communities for Upperclassmen

Global 360 is our newest community, opening in August 2015. This program offers US and international students a supportive space to explore and celebrate issues of intercultural and international interest. In this community, students will explore cultures different from their own, attend fun cultural events, and connect with students and faculty from across the world. Housed in Clement Hall. No required course. Open to all students First-year to Seniors.

MORE House is a sophomore living learning community in Greiner Hall designed for those who are looking to explore MORE, do MORE, and be MORE on campus and in the community. MORE House is focused on helping students explore their role in both the UB and Buffalo communities. Students will explore their personal definitions of diversity, leadership and community while developing their capacity for leadership by doing more and being more, especially in an ever growing global community. Housed in Greiner Hall. Required course in Fall (2 cr) and Spring (1 cr). Open to all Sophomores. http://www.student-affairs.buffalo.edu/idc/more.php

Architecture SIH offers a community for upperclassmen to live and learn from one another. Additional opportunities include mentoring the first-year Architecture community and participating in career exploration programming. Housed in Clement Hall. No required course. Open to all Architecture students Sophomore to Seniors. https://buffalo.collegiatelink.net/form/start/58319

The Engineering SIH is brand new and opening in August 2015. This program offers students majoring in an engineering program to live in a space together to collaborate on assignments, participate in experiential learning projects, develop skills employers will be seeking, and learn more about opportunities in their career field. Housed in Fargo Hall. Required to attend 2 workshops per semester and develop a 4-year career plan. Limited to Engineering majors. https://buffalo.collegiatelink.net/form/start/58245

The Academies SIH is a community of sophomore students who share an interest in Civic Engagement, Entrepreneurship, Global Perspectives, or Research Exploration. The Academies experience will complement any major and will enhance your undergraduate experience. In the Residential Community, students form friendships quickly, attend fun programs, participate in service, and work on research projects together! Housed in Greiner Hall. Required course. Must attend 5 Academies Events/semester. Attend 3 Sophomore Scoops. Create a resume. Meet with an Academies Advisor. Limited to Academies members. http://www.academy.buffalo.edu

Students in the Daniel Acker Scholar program have the opportunity to receive services including individualized advisement and counseling services, research skills courses, tutoring and community service activities. As part of the Acker LEADS SIH, participants will be able to build leadership skills and stay on track with their scholarship requirements. Housed in Greiner Hall. Required spring course (2 cr). Participate in 1 predetermined mentorship or service event each month. Limited to Acker Scholars. http://www.cads.buffalo.edu/acker

University Honors College students have the opportunity to live and study in the Honors SIH. Students participate in service projects, social events, and take an Honors Seminar together. The course brings in successful and interesting speakers each week with a story and lesson about ways to impact the world. Housed in Greiner Hall. Required course in Fall (1cr) and Spring (2cr). Must attend community service programs and community social Limited to Honors Students http://www.honors.buffalo.edu